

Viva Virginia festival to bring opera, chamber music to Virginia Tech this June

By Andrea Brunais
(540) 231-4691, Andreab1@vt.edu

BLACKSBURG, VA., May 13, 2010 -- Luminaries from the opera and chamber music worlds prepare to coach and mentor a new generation of superstar performers at Virginia Tech – plus offer a full slate of concerts for the public.

Viva Virginia, a project of the Virginia Tech Arts Initiative, offered through the Office of Outreach and International Affairs and the International Vocal Arts Institute, is a two-week festival starting Monday, June 21 that includes concerts and masterclasses.

Get the full story from this report on YouTube.

Read related Virginia Tech News stories: Opera images

- “Virginia Tech international music festival to feature opera, chamber music ”
- “Summer programs, renovations keep campus busy”
- “Design plans for university's Center for the Arts set; construction to begin later this year ”

##10429##

Invent the Future

VIRGINIA POLYTECHNIC INSTITUTE AND STATE UNIVERSITY

An equal opportunity, affirmative action institution